

precondition: the player has already been set up in the game and he has been given a tile, a score, the number of his available followers and the current map.

postcondition: the player place the tile on the map and his score is updated. If the tile placement is invalid, then show the user it's invalid. Then it's the other player's turn.